Monday Begins on Saturday is the title of the first edition of Bergen Assembly, and takes the form of an international exhibition, publication, and symposium.

The exhibition presents the positions of more than 50 international artists working in a variety of media. As a contemporary rewriting of the Soviet fantasy novel Monday Begins on Saturday by Arkady and Boris Strugatsky, the exhibition is conceived as an archipelago of fictitious research institutes. Spread over 11 venues in Bergen, it gathers works that are themselves the outcome of critical-imaginative research into the heightened contradictions and particular injustices of our time.

Hosting venues of the exhibition:

Bergen Kjøtt as the Institute of Defensive Magic

Bergen Kunsthall as the Institute of the Disappearing Future

Entrée as the Institute of Political Hallucinations

Stiftelsen 3,14 as the Institute of Perpetual Accumulation

KNIPSU as the Institute of Love and the Lack Thereof

KODE 1 as the Institute of Imaginary States

KODE 4 as the Institute of Anti-Formalism

Rom8 as the Institute of Tropical Fascism

Visningsrommet USF as the Institute of Zoopolitics

Østre as the Institute of Pines and Prison Bread

The School Museum as the Institute of Lyrical Sociology
